

YouYang Tat Sat | 2024

YouYang Tat Sat | 2024 showcases the creative works of Anindita BANERJEE

YouYang Tat Sat is an assemblage of sensations and emotions that have emerged as a neo-mantra for Banerjee, one that seamlessly splices the memories of her home country, her imaginative third spaces and her life in the present day. It is testament to a migrant's yearning for an authentic sense of home. Through the involuntarily harnesses memory deployed in the negotiations of everyday life has she then finally found home or is this merely a trick that her migrant mind has played?

Artist's Statement

YouYang Tat Sat is an assemblage of sensations and emotions that have resulted from an unsolicited recall of involuntary memory and its mysterious muddled up reality. It is testament to a migrant's yearning for an authentic sense of home and gives a peek into how she involuntarily harnesses memory and deploys it in the negotiations of life. From little private moments of the everyday to grander formalised public occasions, Banerjee examines how the stories of the past that are told in the name of memory can alter our perception of the present.

The You Yang Mountains have an extraordinary cultural significance to the Wadawurrung People, the traditional custodians of the land. Tat Sat, an excerpt of the Sanskrit mantra - Om Tat Sat refers to absolute and unmanifested truth. YouYang Tat Sat thus emerged as a neo-mantra for Banerjee, one that seamlessly splices the memories of her home country, her imaginative third spaces and her life in the present day. Has she then finally found home or is this merely a trick that her migrant mind has played?

Biography

Dr. Anindita Banerjee is as a twice uprooted Indian. She is an interdisciplinary artist, curator, researcher, and arts worker that lives and works on the land of the Wadawurrung people of the Kulin Nation. Her research interests include cultural otherness, authentic identity and the sense of home. Memories of ritualistic ceremonies and mark makings and her reconstruction of them informs her practice. She has exhibited at the Victoria Parliament Melbourne, Customs House Sydney, the Perth Institute of Contemporary Arts, the Academy of Fine Arts in Kolkata, at the Palazzo Bembo Gallery in Venice in conjunction with the Venice Biennale 2019 and various other institutions and galleries. Her practice led research 'Home and Away' earned her a PhD from Deakin University in 2020. Her multi-year creative research on Ondormohol has been shown at the Art Gallery of Ballarat as part of the Ballarat International Foto Biennale in 2021, at the Queen Victoria Women's Centre in 2022 and at the Maroondah Federation Gallery earlier this year. Her exhibition 'Epar Opar' as part of Ondormohol will tour Kolkata and Dhaka in early 2025.
